Christie Lamb Rocks

Mushroom and Leek Frittata

400g button or mixed mushrooms (such as Swiss brown and oyster), sliced
1 leek thinly sliced
2 garlic cloves, crushed
8 eggs,
½ cup grated Parmesan
¼ cup of mixed herbs such as basil and flat leaf parsley
Tomato relish, to serve

Preheat the oven to 180°C and lightly grease a 20cm square cake pan.

In a large frypan over medium-low heat add olive oil, leek and cook for 5 minutes until soft but not browned.

Add mushrooms and garlic and stir for 5 minutes, or until mushrooms are soft.

Whisk together the eggs and Parmesan in a bowl.

Fill prepared pan with leek mixture, sprinkle with basil and pour over egg mixture.

Sprinkle extra parmesan on top and bake for 20?-25-30 minutes until lightly browned and set.

Cool slightly, then turn out onto a board, cut into squares and serve with tomato relish.

During January's Tamworth festival, Christie and her band showcased her new material and sound. To say it was met with enthusiasm is an understatement.

"Ever since I started listening to country music when I was younger it was people like Miranda Lambert that caught my ear, because it seemed a little different to what I thought country really was at the time . . . that kind of angle with the crossover pop-rock influences but still real rootsy and country at the same time."

"There's a lot of people doing traditional country, and there's a place for everybody, but I think that's kind of my place. I'm a little bit different and I wanted to showcase that with this album.

"It is about trying to bring more people of my generation to country music and I think that kind of influence of the pop-rock modern sound or whatever you call it will do that."

Despite her tender age of just 21, Christie Lamb's debut album has been a long time in the making.

Christie spent the majority of her teens finding her musical feet, both as a performer and writer of songs.

She attended performing arts at high school; took part in a range of singing contests, and has been a regular at the annual Tamworth Country Music Festival for the past eight years.

While country music has always been her passion, she concedes it has taken time to develop her own sound.

Christie's 2011 debut EP served as a great introduction to a broader audience, yet it fell somewhat short of truly showcasing her powerhouse vocals and setting her apart from her contemporaries.

This time round, working with Brisbane-based producer Andrew Cochrane, nothing is left in reserve.

Via the 11 recorded tracks, five of which were co-penned by Christie, the listener is presented with a release comparable to many America hit albums.
