Isn't it amazing the impact that music has on our way of life? Whether we are an entertainer, a radio listener, or driving our car....music is all around us.

Very few people in the world exist without music; and I presume... because you are reading this article; you are quite a music enthusiast too?

There is no doubt that our culture, our D.O.B. and what we are exposed to via the media does influence the music we come to like and dislike.

Gawler Country Music Club takes an active role in encouraging "the development of all styles of Country Music... providing opportunity and encouragement to amateur artists..."

Felicity Urquhart is an artist who shares in our views of providing encouragement.

Felicity gives heartening words to young people on page 6.

Remember "To receive, you have to give!"

Felicity Urquhart is a worthy trend setter for all Country Musicians. She was born in Tamworth and influenced from a young age by Grand-Dad who was a NSW Western Swing Singer.

Regarded as one of our finest Australian vocalists/songwriters Felicity has recently released her new album 'Landing Lights'.

Her tracks include a range of musical styles, tempos, moods and meaningful lyrics to satisfy discerning listeners. She provides variety and displays versatility.

Felicity's fresh young approach appeals to all audience irrespective of interests in Bush Ballads, Traditional Country or Country Rock.

Besides appealing to young audiences her stimulating songs take mature listeners to places where they have been before..... Pin your ears back and 'live' with Felicity's songs... you will understand.

"With this album, I wanted to open myself up to possibilities — to do something totally different; to take a risk," Felicity said.

Commenting on the track "I Fall", co-written with Michael Spiby.

"It's a very different song for me. I like taking new ideas and just going for it. Every album I record is uncharted territory, and should be fresh. Each song is absolutely me," Felicity said.

Felicity Urquhart

Felicity is involved with the NSW Talent Development Program, which gave her a start in music.

She also works tirelessly for The Merry Makers, a program which brings young people with intellectual and physical disabilities together with artists and others to create amazing shows. It's something she is passionate about.

With numerous awards to her credit, including two Golden Guitars and three MO Awards, Felicity has featured strongly in the Australian music scene for the past decade.

She has supported John Mellencamp, Sheryl Crow, Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings, and recently toured Australia with international music icon Kenny Rogers.

A favourite song of many is "I Remember You". The music was written by Victor Schertzinger, the lyrics by Johnny Mercer and originally published in 1941. Yes we all know the Frank Ifield connection. This song spans generations... Felicity with Stuey French on guitar from the album "Felicity New Shadow" is a masterpiece of mixing old with new. That's what we need folks to keep Country Music Forever.

What Other People Are Saying About Felicity:

"I consider it a tremendous privilege and blessing to have written songs with Felicity Urquhart. Her abilities as a genuine artist are endless. Felicity writes, plays, sings and performs with an incredible talent, and style all of her own and has a heart as pure as the autumn wind."

Randy Scruggs, Grammy Award Winner, Nashville

"Felicity walked to the microphone and the room came alive. Her voice is just magical. Felicity is a true star."

Marius Els, Artist Network Australia

Thanks Felicity for "mixing old with new" and for providing words of encouragement to our young artists of the future.
