'The Truth About Lies'

Live Country Music; and music on radio is entertaining and heart-warming, and allows one's imagination to wander into the land of fairytales.

For example listening to the voice of Gina Jeffreys conjures up a world of emotions and wonderment.

Gina's remarkable musical career is part of a remarkable web that has spun around her over recent years.

It's now more than a decade since Gina Jeffreys won the Toyota Star Maker Quest, marking the start of an outstanding career that's not only taken Gina to the top of the country music industry, but continues to bring new surprises and successes.

After releasing her first single... Slipping Away through BMG Music, Gina signed a record deal with ABC Music, and released her first single for the label Two Stars Fell in 1993. The song went straight to No.1 and the career of Gina Jeffreys was launched. Her debut album The Flame went platinum, and the following January Gina won her first Golden Guitar for Female Vocalist of the Year.

During her time with ABC Country, Gina enjoyed a dream run. She released five albums, each one rocketing to the top of the Country charts, and along the way gathered an impressive collection of four Golden Guitars; four MO Awards for live performance; an APRA Award; two Victorian Country Music Awards and CMT Video of the Year for Dancin' With Elvis. Gina's albums — The Flame, Up Close, Somebody's Daughter, Christmas Wish, Angel and The Best of Gina Jeffreys ... have all been smash hits with her loyal band of fans, collecting a steady stream of Gold and Platinum awards.

Gina has also been one of the most in-demand performers in Australia, both live and on television, appearing at everything from civic receptions to Carols by Candlelight, a string of corporate functions and, of course, all the major country music festivals Australia-wide. International highlights include performing at Fan Fair in Nashville; on a New Year's Eve Television Special in Shanghai, China, to over 2 billion people, and the Tour of Duty Concert in East Timor.

Her tours are always sell-out successes, with the fans seemingly unable to get enough of Gina's performances. And Gina is the first to admit she leads a charmed life — performing the music she loves.

But magic doesn't just happen by itself — Gina has worked incredibly hard over the past decade to develop her career, and continues to emerge with fresh new sounds and stunning new looks to delight her fans and win over new supporters.

Gina Jeffreys

As a hard-working patron of the Australian Leukemia Foundation, Gina has quietly been helping sick children for over seven years.

In January 2003, Gina and Husband Rod McCormack became the proud parents of a baby boy Jackson. Since then Gina has been taking some time out of the limelight to enjoy her new role... "I was just enjoying every second of the simple things in life, like putting our baby to bed and reading him bedtime stories, singing him lullabies. I am so glad that I did that. You can't get those years back. But while our son Jackson is the reason I stopped music for a while, he is also the reason I started again. My heart has never sung like this before".

Since her break from Music, Gina in 2007 released her album 'WALKS OF LIFE'. Produced by Rod, it showcases a new vocal maturity on a collection of songs that are near and dear to her heart. Gina co-wrote five of the songs.

Gina has been busy performing with Country Music super-group THE SONGBIRDS with Becky Cole and Sara Storer.

A true superstar in her own right... getting together with the girls is a true-blue girls' night out!

You can read more about Gina on her website where she keeps her on-line diary...

We would love to hear from you Gina.
How's about a few words of encouragement for our youngsters...
