

That Woz the Day That Woz!

The Slim Dusty Tribute Show

Sunday the 16th September 2007 at Gawler Country Music Club was a great day for those fortunate enough to have purchased their tickets well in advance. Yes, the Slim Dusty Tribute Show attracted a full house. The SOLD OUT sign at the entrance door was prominently on display. So remember... book early for next year. There may be some very big surprises.

Good entertainment, good food and a good time were all on the menu for everyone to enjoy.

Murray Mac & True Grit stayed true to the format of Slim Dusty's songs and backed each act with the level of professionalism worthy of the ample applause they received.

The show was so good; the performers were first class and it is truly difficult to say which of the acts was the best.

Tom Maxwell, Amos Morris, Matt Manning... thanks for a great performance

Slim Connor had everyone in stitches with his jokes and stories. He also advised everyone with hearing aids not to get them mixed up with their medicinal suppositories.

Slim's own song 'You'll do me Mate!' must have brought a lump to the throat of everyone who has great respect for their parents. When a father makes his son feel '10 foot tall....'

On this occasion 'The Biggest Disappointment' was that the show had to come to an end.

Thanks Slim Connor for bringing joy to the Slim Dusty Tribute Show.

Thanks also to those who attended.

We hope to see you again next year.

And remember.... Keep it Country!

Harmony's lost Horse

If you've seen a horse running around town please give Harmony a call. She will be pleased to hear from you.

And if you've been listening to Country Music on radio lately... there's a chance that you've heard Harmony James and her catchy song 'Somebody Stole My Horse'.

Singer-songwriter Harmony is a CMAA College of Country Music graduate based in Tennant Creek

Just one day after Somebody Stole My Horse was released to radio, it was played on major stations across the country, which delighted Harmony no end.

"I'm really pleased people are responding so warmly to the songs I've written,"

Harmony said.

"When the song is your own, it's hard to know if other people will relate to them and love them as much as you do."

'Horse' is a real favourite of mine and I've had some wonderful support with that particular song from the Northern Territory Government.'

The next few months will be busy for Harmony, with gigs as far abroad as Toowoomba in Queensland and Alice Springs Rodeo.

Harmony's unique distinctive voice is sure to be heard around Australia in the months and years ahead.

Hopefully 'The Horse' will bring Harmony to our neck of the woods. That's if she finds it!

Give your local radio stations a call to make radio requests for your favourite Country Music songs.

Port supporter Wally Sparrow, Sensible Sarah Tomlinson and Prime Time Rob Edwards will be happy to take song requests.

Give them a call and request your Country favourites. Ask for Somebody Stole My Horse... and how about asking for songs by our South Australian artists.

John Hess, President of the Open House Country Music Club recently announced that he is about to travel over to Western Australia for two months in connection with work commitments.

He had concerns about the smooth running of Open House Country events. However, a Knight in Shining Cowboy Boots has come to the rescue. John indicates that Murray Mac of 'True Grit' will assist. So all should go well at Wingfield.

John also announced that he and Val are planning to marry next October.

Best wishes to you both. Hope to see you boot scoot'n soon.
