July 2015 - No: 266

One of our keen readers - Barrie Searles asked if we could find out more about singer/songwriter Pam Clarke.
So I contacted Pam, and here's what she had to say...

Raised in the outback of NSW my introduction to entertaining was playing the Pianola and singing to the stock agents at a very young age. At age 11 I appeared on Channel Nine's "Joanne Priest Show", and at 13 recorded a 45 rpm vinyl at radio station 5AD. The latter years at school often saw me in trouble for singing and playing popular songs rather than knuckling down to piano practice. I eventually moved further north into the remote outback after marrying, working as station hand among many other jobs.

I'd always had the desire to sing, but living in such a remote area, felt little hope of pursuing my interest in music. A lady taught me to yodel over the telephone, and the first song I ever wrote was about giving it my best shot for a talent quest I entered; however much of the inspiration for my song-writing came out of the bush based on true events. One of my more serious songs, "Upon Reflection" was written following my daughter being involved in an accident. Then there was, "An Outback Woman's Lot" – a tribute to women in the bush. Other events in my life have found their way into songs such as my signature song, "An Aussie Female Shearer Who Became a Queensland Cop". "The Big Turn On" – a tongue in cheek look at the upgrading of life style after being connected to the Rural Grid Power, and "When the Bushie Wed the Schoolie", - absolute chaos at my son's wedding.

Meeting a lead guitarist in 1990, a duo was formed. And for many years we played for gymkhanas, in many a pub and number of Clubs. I became a regular solo artist at the Mildura CM Festival; recorded my first CD in 1991, and later travelled to Adelaide to do my first major recording in 1995 and again in '98. Throughout this time and the ensuing years I toured with my husband as a one person band, successfully juggling two lives as a singer-entertainer and partner in primary production.

Needing a life style change, my husband, Bryan and I moved to Qld in 2003 where I recorded my fourth CD, "Diamonds & Jewels". Knowing only family up here, we could never have imagined the many friendships that would grow from one day attending a Country Music Club.

I also regularly entertain at Senior Citizens Associations; and on several occasions have played the lovely grand piano at the Caloundra Events Centre. Being involved in several country music clubs sees me enjoying interaction with the bands, playing keys and recently, my new and 5th CD album, "I Love Music" was released and is currently receiving airplay both nationally and internationally.

I loved reading your great newsletter... It's one of the best I've seen, and is full of interest. It sounds like you have a really good Club going there.

Kind regards

Pam Clarke

A Word From The Editor...

Hi Country Music fans.

June seemed to be of those months full of bad news in many ways. And although at times it seems hard to stay positive, I am reminded of an old proverb:

'There is no way to happiness.
Happiness is the way.'

So, when others around you dwell in the past, spread gloom and doom, and whinge and complain - be the shining light that leads the way !!

There are some great songs coming out lately, and some great shows coming up. So don't let the winter blues set in. Get out there and dance, clap, and sing.

We also have a new column called "Bedtime Giggles" for you to enjoy. For some reason there is a lot to laugh about in the bedroom - well, at least in my house there is...

Peace to all.

Stewart Ray

Presidents Report

G'Day Members & Friends.

Well, our June show was another great day. With good numbers through the door and a new band, we were set to enjoy the after noon. Creation were great for there first gig in country music. They played a lot of the older country which was very enjoyable. Supported by our Guest artists Tammie and Stewart Ray (Workin' Overtime).

A big pat on the back for Les Parris who we know is very unwell - he played with the band all day. Well done Les, your a Champion. Unfortunately we had a serious medical emergency during the Workin' Overtime performance - Kaylene Waples had 4 Seizures in a very short time. We called for S.A. Ambulance, and we soon had her on her way to hospital. Get well soon Kaylene. Well, our July show will be another great day we will have Heartland who are always popular.

So until then...
Keep It Country

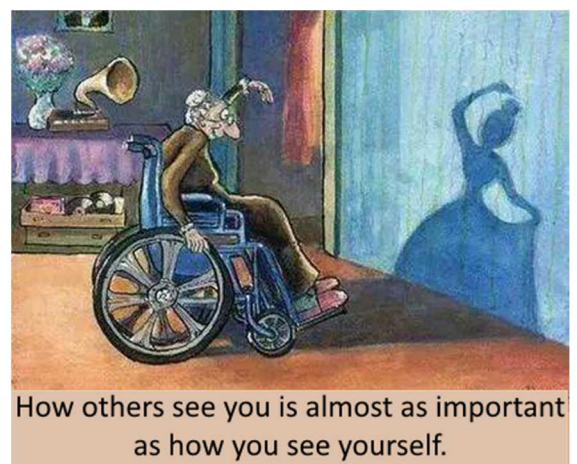

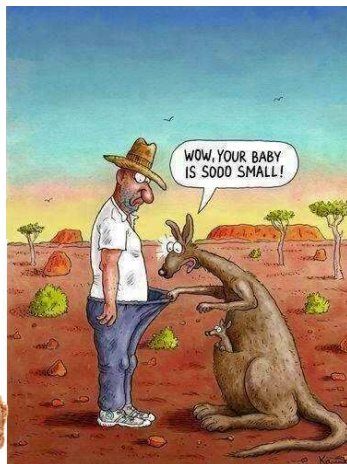

Regards,
Keith Warren

Hi Stewart

Congratulations on successfully taking over the reigns as Newsletter/Web Editor for Gawler Country Music Club Inc. With its new professional looking layout, the newsletter and website must now surely be amongst the best of Country Music publications in Australia.

You obviously get out and about meeting and mixing with some of Australia's prominent country artists, and I'm sure our club members will be anxious to find out who you will be featuring in future month in the V.I.P. Lounge.

Giving credit where it is due, I trust our club members appreciate the time and energy it takes to put together, what has become a quality source of information for Country Music fans in Australia and world-wide. The Gawler Country Music Club Newsletter, Website, Music Workshop, Open Mic, monthly shows; their fundraising, and special events are all administered and presented by our volunteer committee with President Keith Warren at the helm. The committee donates their considerable effort and time to make our club's excellent services very affordable with an inexpensive annual membership fee.

Add low price club membership, free monthly newsletters, low cost entrance fees to our live monthly shows, with affordable meals and a friendly atmosphere...What more can you ask for? This is why our club attracts healthy membership numbers and very near full capacity audiences each month.

If you have friends who are unfortunate enough not to be members of Gawler Country Music Club; invite them along to our venue at the Grenville Centre in Elizabeth. 3rd Sunday each month 12noon til 4.00p.m.

Everyone is welcome. Keep up the good work.

Best wishes

Les Parris (Retired Newsletter/Web Editor)

Thanks for the letter Les, and for the kind comments. It's always good to hear from the readers (even past editors). It's all a work in progress that is getting some good industry praise. As Pam Clarke says about the newsletter 'It's one of the best I've seen, and is full of interest.'

As you well know, it takes a great deal of time and effort (and cost...) to make these things happen.

Bless those who have the passion and interest in country music to keep it going strong. They need all the help and praise they can get.

There is so much going on in country music and the rest of the music industry outside of South Australia.

I find one of the biggest challenges is to try and create awareness and exposure to that, so our locals are able to appreciate, enjoy, and take advantage of it all. The newsletter, website, and workshops are just some of the ways of working towards achieving that.

Cheers,
Stewart Ray (Editor)

When Glen Campbell Felt His Mind Was Leaving Him, He Wrote One Last Song to His Loving Wife

Legendary singer and songwriter Glen Campbell has been battling Alzheimer's disease for years, and is now in the final stages of the disease. Campbell has been moved to 24-hour care, as his doctors have determined that he is in the sixth stage of Alzheimer's ('severe cognitive decline').

It has been nearly two years since Campbell has performed in public - however, as a farewell to his music career, Campbell's record label has released his final studio recording.

His final ballad is called "I'm Not Gonna Miss You." The melody is sombre and contemplative, but the lyrics show Campbell's ability to find irony in his disease. The result is a beautiful combination of sadness and joy, which ends much too quickly.

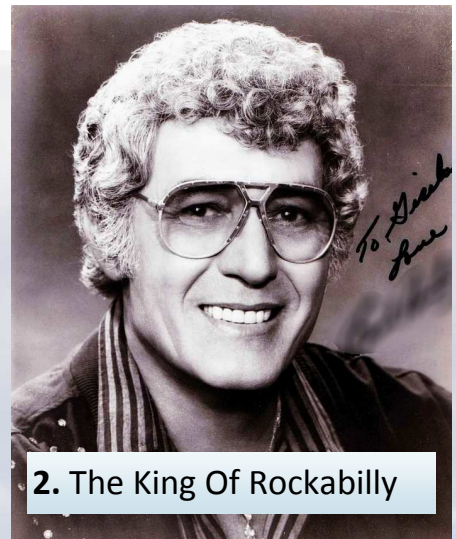

History Mystery

Once again, country music historian Paul Kelly tests our knowledge of music stars with shots from his personal collection. See if you can guess who is in the photos? Answers are at the bottom of the page.

1. Paul Kelly and ?

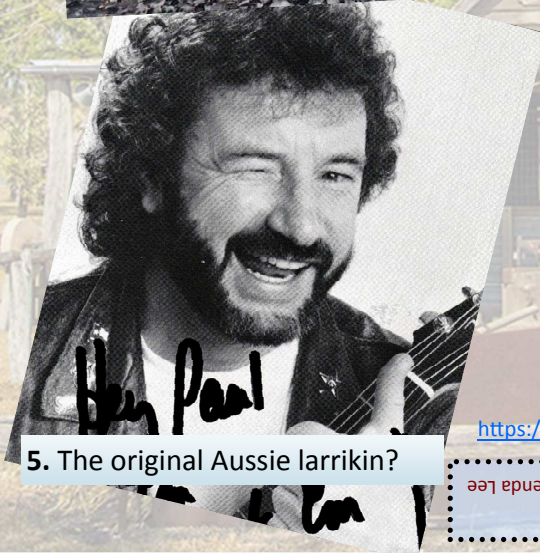

2. The King Of Rockabilly

3. Australian Country/Bluegrass Legends?

4. I've sold 45 million albums

5. The original Aussie larrikin?

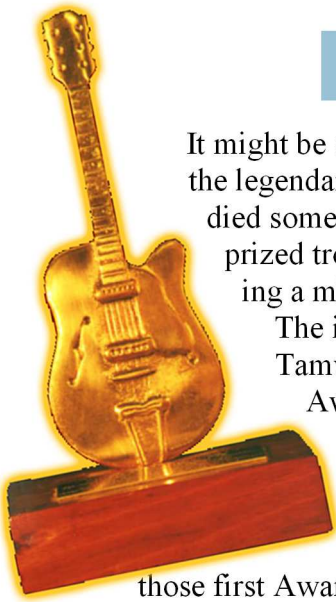

6. Brenda Mae Tarpley - AKA?

SLIM DUSTY'S FORGOTTEN GOLDEN GUITAR

It might be surprising for Slim Dusty fans to learn that the number of Golden Guitars won by the legendary Australian, Slim Dusty, has increased from 37 to 38, despite the fact that Slim died some 12 years ago in 2003. In fact, neither Slim nor his music, has won another of the prized trophies presented in Tamworth each year in January. It's simply a matter of rectifying a mistake that was made in the statistics many decades ago.

The inaugural Australasian Country Music Awards were staged by Radio 2TM in the Tamworth Town Hall on a very hot Sunday night on January 28th 1973. The initial Award that compere Kevin Knapp announced that historic night was for APRA Song of The Year. To present the Award, well known composer, George Dasey (They're a Weird Mob), was invited to the stage and he presented the first ever Golden Guitar to Joy McKean for her composition "Lights On The Hill".

For many years Slim has been credited for winning only two Golden Guitars at those first Awards in 1973. One was for the Best EP or Single (Lights on the Hill) and another for the Best 12" LP Album (Me And My Guitar). But, recently, Joy McKean and Anne Kirkpatrick have been going through the collection of Slim memorabilia, preparing it for the move to The Slim Dusty Centre in Kempsey later this year, and discovered an extra Golden Guitar from 1973 and were puzzled about it. They wondered if it could be a duplicate they had acquired for some reason.

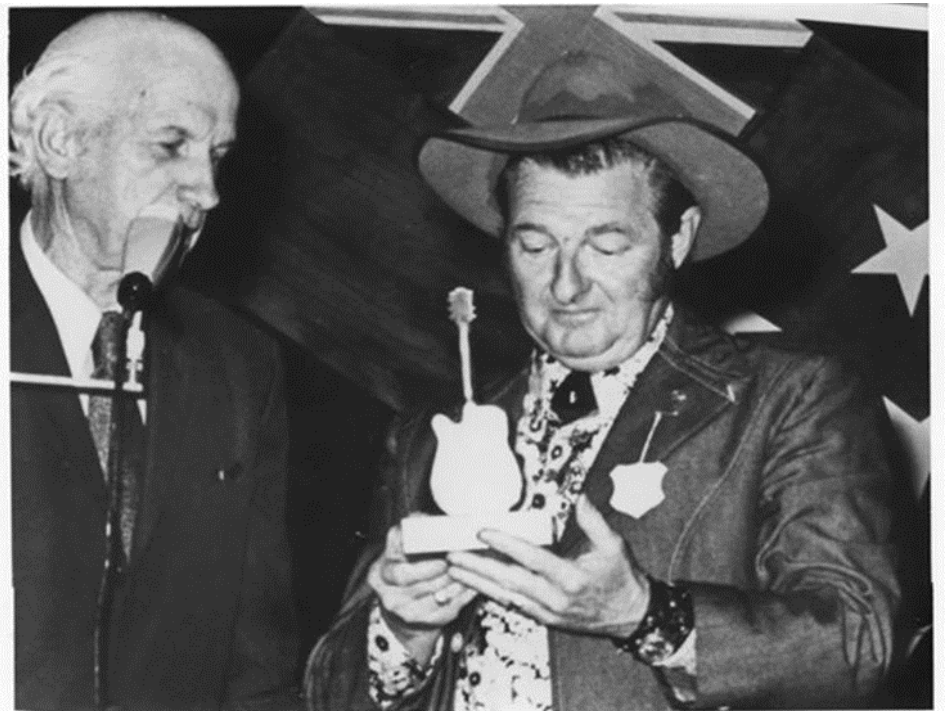

As a person who contributed so much to Australian country music, Slim deserves all the recognition and thanks we can give him.

However, after checking a rare tape recording of the first Awards in 1973, from the Tamworth Sound and Film Archive, it was discovered that Slim had also been awarded a Golden Guitar as the artist who sang Joy's Best Composition, (Lights On The Hill). So now we know that Slim won three Golden Guitars in January 1973, and not the two that had been counted previously. Things changed considerably in later presentations; 2TM dropped the Golden Guitar for the singer of the Best Composition and also, Golden Guitars given to winning record companies were dropped.

With the Slim Dusty Centre in Kempsey nearing completion, it is appropriate that the great Slim Dusty is now credited with the third forgotten trophy he won in 1973, bringing his grand total up to 38 Golden Guitars awards, unmatched to date.

Commenting on the change, the Secretary of the Country Music Association of Australia, Meryl Davis said, "It's great to see Slim's tally of Golden Guitars being updated. As a person who contributed so much to Australian country music, Slim deserves all the recognition and thanks we can give him. It will be exciting to see the Golden Guitars he won, on display in the Slim Dusty Centre."

All of Slim's 38 Golden Guitars awards will be on display in a special feature at the Slim Dusty Museum in Kempsey when it opens in October this year.

GCMC Show - June 21st

From the feedback so far, the June show was well received. Les Parris and his band Creation who are 'new' to the Country Music club scene did a great job playing a selection of good ol' favourites with good harmonies to keep the dance floor busy. It is always good to see artists who take pride in their work. Sadly, Les is leaving the group. We wish Les and the boys all the best for the future.

Our thoughts and prayers also go out to Kaylene Waples who had several seizures during the guest spot. A terribly frightening thing for Kaylene and those nearby. Thanks to all for your patience during the incident, and to those who assisted— much appreciated. We'll try to update you on Kaylenes progress in the next newsletter.

My beautiful wife Tammie and I performed as guest artists for the day (Workin' Overtime). Despite being injured from being knocked down by a car a week earlier I still got up and had fun. Thanks to all of you who came and spoke to us after the show to say how much they enjoyed our songs and appreciated my ratbag sense of humour. Stewart Ray

Bedtime Giggles

Dad, Dave, & Mabel

While the rest of the family had gone on a trip to town, Dad attended the Sunday service on his own - happy for some peace and quiet for a few days.

In a blinding flash and a thunderous roar, Satan appeared before the small town congregation.

Everyone started screaming and running for the church door, trampling each other in a frantic effort to get away.

Soon everyone was gone except for Dad who sat there calmly.

Satan walked up to him and said, "Don't you know who I am?"

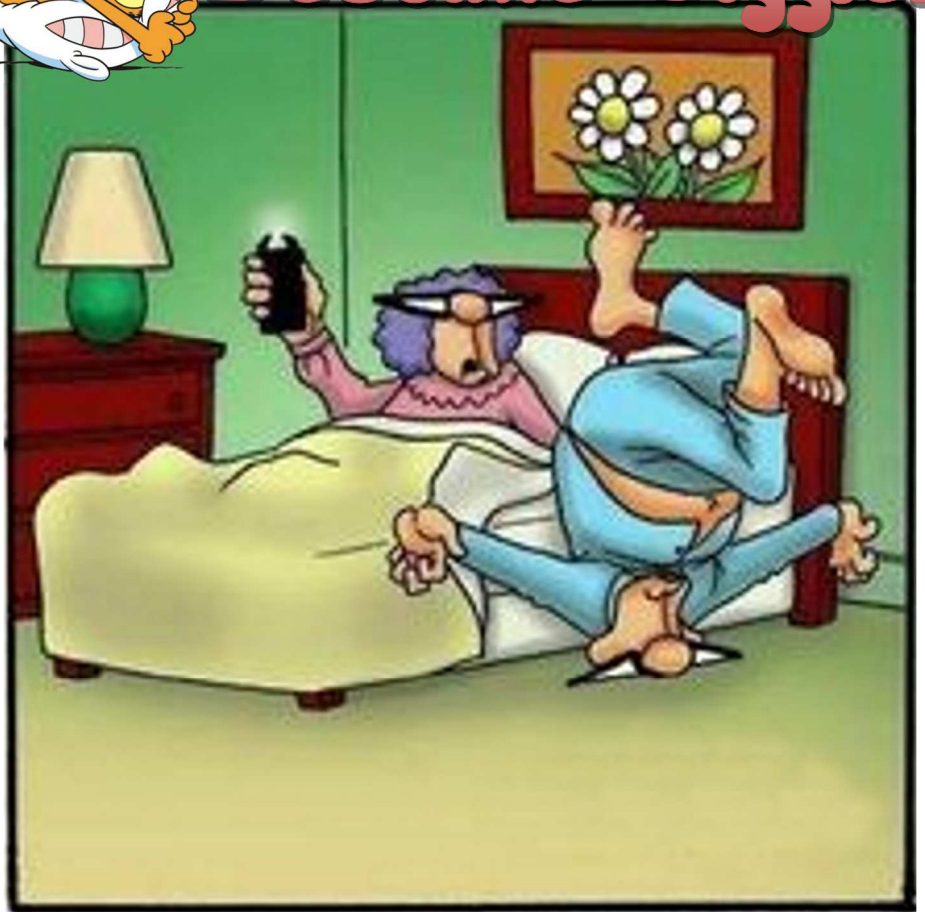

Dad quietly replied, "Yep, sure do."

Satan asked, "Aren't you going to run?"

"Nope, sure ain't," said Dad.

Satan asked, "But, why aren't you afraid of me?"

Dad smiled and replied, "I've been married to your sister for over 48 years."

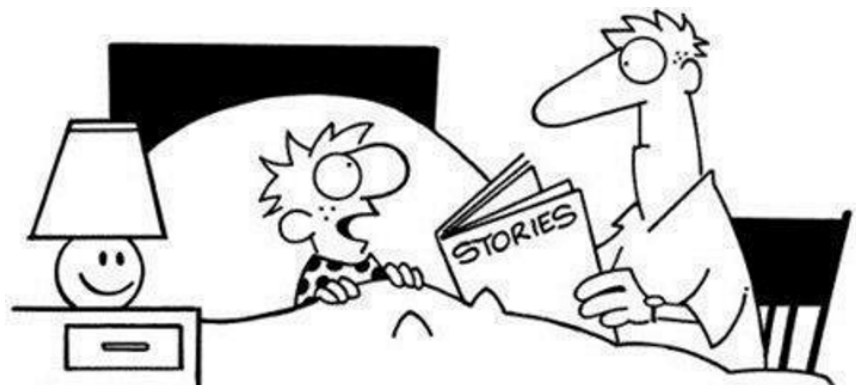

"It's a taser. It's for your snoring."

A couple were lying in bed together one morning when the wife says, 'Darling, I think that it is time I made a confession. Before we were married I was a hooker for eight years.'

The husband ponders for a moment, looks into his wife's eyes and says, 'my love, you have been a perfect wife for 10 years. I cannot hold your past against you. Maybe you could show me a few tricks of the trade so as to spice up our sex life a bit..?'

She said, 'Darling I don't think you understood me correctly.'

My name was Brian and I played rugby for Wales.'

"Snow White was poisoned by an apple, Jack found a giant in his beanstalk, and look what happened to Alice when she ate the mushroom! And you wonder why I won't eat fruit and vegetables!?"
